City removes loan obstacle

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A financial obstacle that could have scuttled plans for construction of a Wal-Mart store here apparently was overcome Tuesday when the city council agreed to pledge additional collateral to the county, which is providing low-interest loan money for the project.

Economic Development Director Alan Ortals explained that a discrepancy in the value of the former Central Bank building at 1909 Edison Ave. — owned by the city and pledged to Madison County Community Development as collateral for a $225,000 infrastructure improvement loan — required the council to adopt a new ordinance authorizing the mayor to enter the low-interest loan agreement with the county.

The loan is to be used for construction of a sewer line that will serve Wal-Mart and other businesses and residents of the area.

Ortals said the assessed valuation of the former bank building is $245,000 according to Granite City Township Assessor Darlene Laub, but only $45,000 according to county Supervisor of Assessments Robert Harris.

Because the county recognizes the lower figure, the city was required to pledge additional collateral to enter the loan agreement with Madison County Community Development, Ortals explained.

The new ordinance pledges the city's portion of sales tax revenue received from the Wal-Mart store to cure any default should Madison County Community Development determine the value of the bank building insufficient collateral.

Harris attributed the substantial discrepancy in assessed valuation to the difference between an operating entity and one that is vacant. He said the county's estimate is based on the fact that it is a vacant special use property and that the town-ship's assessment was probably done while the

THE ANCIENT POTTERY'S discovery shouldn't disrupt Wal-Mart's plans to build on this Granite City site, officials said.

Prehistoric farms uncovered

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Wal-Mart must remove some things left behind by former residents before it can start building here.

And since the former residents were prehistoric Native Americans, it's not just a matter of packing some boxes and renting a truck.

According to Joyce Williams, an archaeologist with the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency, an archaeological survey of the site on the west side of Illinois 3 at West Pontoon Road turned up two prehistoric farmsteads. She said the survey, completed Tuesday, was required under federal law because Housing and Urban Development funds are involved in the project.

Williams said the site must be excavated before any development takes place there, but said the excavation will take no more than two or three weeks of field work. After the field work, she said, Wal-Mart can proceed with construction as planned.

Jim Sachs, spokesman for Wal-Mart's local developer, Eisenberg Development, said he had spoken with Williams on Wednesday and everyone agreed the finding would not change Wal-Mart's planned development and may not even delay the planned start of construction in June.

"Wal-Mart is still looking to open before Christmas," Sachs said. "The finding shouldn't have any effect on Wal-Mart's plans at this point."

The prehistoric site was located after several pottery shards were found, Williams said. The pottery indicated the site was more than an overnight stop for hunters and, she said, it turned

Son held in beating of mother

GRANITE CITY — The son of a 44-year-old city woman is being held pending filing of charges in connection with the beating of his mother.

Nellie Tanksley, of the 2700 block of Birch Avenue, was in the intensive care unit this morning after undergoing emergency surgery at St. John's Mercy Medical Center Wednesday afternoon. The hospital had no condition report available.

The woman's 33-year-old son, Terry Tanksley, of the 1400 block of Niedringhaus Avenue, was in custody Wednesday afternoon, pending formal charges, according to Assistant Chief Ron Selph of the police department.

Tanksley allegedly locked his parents Cecil and Nellie Tanksley in his apartment against their will Tuesday at about 4:30 p.m. and told them they would not leave alive, and they would "die a slow and painful death," a police report says.

The report said Tanksley blamed his parents for the loss of his Social Security benefits, and beat them with his fist and slapped his mother.

After several hours of captivity — the report says the parents are not sure of the time of their escape — the parents convinced their son to release them by promising him they would not tell anyone of the incident.

But Nellie Tanksley was in such pain, the report says, a Granite City ambulance was called to take her to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She was then transported to St. John's by helicopter. Cecil Tanksley was treated at SEMC and released, according to Public Relations Director Deb Williams.

Detectives applied for a search warrant and held Terry Tanksley pending a charge of aggravated

Pontoon library president resigns

Political differences cited

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — Citing political differences with other board members, Robbie Wilson resigned her position as director and president of the public library board Tuesday night.

Wilson is the second library board member to resign this year. Alice Lucas, a prime motivator in establishing the free library in the village, resigned her board membership Feb. 12. Lucas had also served as board secretary.

Before the trustees voted unanimously to accept Wilson's resignation, Trustee Bob Douglas, joined by other trustees, commended Wilson "for the excellent job she has done" for the library.

In her letter of resignation, addressed to Mayor Glen Wilson and the Village Trustees, Robbie Wilson said although "many people, in and out of Pontoon Beach, see the library as one of the most positive things that has ever happened here ... nevertheless, there are problems."

Wilson cited two specific reasons for her resignation. She said action was taken by the board (Susan Bryant and Judy Merritt are the other two board members) to amend the library's by-laws in direct contradiction to both Village Attorney Keith Jensen's advice and procedure as set forth in the by-laws. She also said those same and precursors who voted to change the by-laws have decided to replace nearly every member of the library committee, which is made up of volunteers.

Regarding the elimination of the by-laws, Wilson said Jensen advised the board that procedures set forth in the by-laws — including written notification to all members of proposed changes at least ten days prior to voting on those changes — must be followed to make any changes in them.

"In direct contradiction to the attorney's advice," Wilson's letter says, "a motion was made by (Bryant) and seconded by (Merritt) to abolish 12 sections of the by-laws, including the section which tells how by-laws may be amended."

"Since two out of three votes is the majority," the letter continues, "there are now no library by-laws."

The action took place May 7, according to Wilson.

REQUIEM FOR SOCIETY: Darrell Emory kneels by the artificial grave he dug in his front yard in the 1400 block of Greenwood Street. Emory said the grave is for American society, which he believes has died. Emory said he got the idea for the grave one afternoon when he realized society had been killed by drugs, alcohol and sex and needed to be buried. He said the grave, a form of protest, has raised the eyebrows of neighbors and brought visits by police.

'News in Review' debuts

The Press-Record initiates a new feature today: "News in Review," a summary of the week's news.

Designed especially for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Wednesday Granite City Journal or the Sunday Press-Record/Journal, the feature will contain a summary of the major local and regional news of the week.

"News in Review" will complement the Press-Record's weekly funeral summary, which contains a listing of all obituary notices that have appeared in the previous Sunday and Wednesday issues.

"News in Review" will appear on Page 2A of the Press-Record.

Transplant gave him new life

66-year-old celebrates 5th 'birthday'

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

MADISON — Robbie Brasfield of Madison will mark an important day in his life on May 24. He will be celebrating the fifth anniversary of his new heart.

"Although May 24 is the date, we're going to do the celebrating on Saturday, May 25," he said. "I'm going to cook fish for between 75 and 100 people at a fish fry that Saturday."

Brasfield received his donor heart during transplant surgery on May 24, 1986, at the Texas Heart Institute at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital in Houston.

The donor was a 25-year-old truck driver from Missouri.

"I believe he was from St. Louis, but we don't know anything about his family. I wish we did," Brasfield said.

"I am one of the lucky people in the world. I got the heart after being evaluated and waiting for only three weeks."

"One man I know has been lying in a hospital bed waiting since 1982."

Brasfield was quite sick prior to getting a new heart. He suffered from cardiomyopathy, a heart disease for which there was no known cure, he said.

"I was in and out of the emergency room for two years," he said.

"I didn't do as well the first year (after getting the heart), but I feel pretty good now. I am now taking the minimum dose of the rejection medicine. I was taking two or three times this amount to start off and the medication does have its side effects."

Brasfield said at least three other heart transplant recipients will be at his fish fry. He has invited another Granite City man who had a heart transplant. That guest is bringing a younger fellow with him who is also a heart recipient, the host said.

Brasfield, 66, is also hoping to persuade the parents of Sunset Bristow of Mitchell to bring the 8-year-old youngster to the celebration.

Sunset had a successful heart transplant on April 2 at Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital in St. Louis.

Brasfield read about Sunset in the Press-Record Journal and wants the Mitchell School second grade pupil and her family to come to the fish fry.

Brasfield said he has not gained a great deal of weight nor does he look puffy in the face. Both are common side effects from the medication he must take, he said.

"I weighed 183 pounds when I had the surgery and I weigh between 160 and 165 pounds now."

Brasfield said he first went to Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, in an effort to get a new heart.

"They refused to talk to me. They said I was too old; that the cutoff limit for heart transplants was 55 and I was 61," he said.

Brasfield's sister lives in Houston and her husband had undergone open heart surgery about that time.

"She talked with the doctors there and they said to have me come down. My sister flew up here and took me and all my records back to Houston."

"I took some extensive tests for three weeks and they evaluated me and they said they could do it."

"I waited for another three weeks at my sister's house until they called to say they

News in review

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record/Journals.

Of the 1,259 drivers arrested in Madison County last year for driving under the influence of alcohol, more than 300 never lost their driver's license.

A report by the secretary of state's office said only 76 percent of those charged with DUI in Madison County lost their driving privileges, 14 points below the state average of 90 percent and among the worst in the state.

Mark Von Nida, administrative assistant to Madison County State's Attorney William Haine, said Haine's office has been keeping its own tally since July and disputes the secretary of state's report. "From our stats it's more like 20 percent (who did retain driving privileges),"

But, Von Nida admitted, until last June it was the practice, "not policy," of the county's DUI court to give up the driving suspension in contested cases in favor of a guilty plea and a fine. Von Nida said that practice changed after the publication of last year's DUI statistics "made us more aware of the problem."

Coolidge Junior High school students in Granite City received a unique, first-hand lesson in social studies Monday when Congressman Jerry Costello spoke to the student body at an assembly in the school's gymnasium.

Costello, D—Belleville, made a few brief comments to start the assembly, and then fielded questions from the inquisitive students on a number of topics. The vast majority of the questions referred to the atrocities authorized by Saddam Hussein during the recent war in the Middle-East.

The money Illinois school districts gleaned from the two-year temporary income tax surcharge was used for survival and without the surcharge's continuation, many school districts may end up on an "endangered species list."

That was the message from a press conference sponsored by the Large Unit District Association and held at Edwardsville High School Monday morning.

Legislators are currently discussing three options for the 20 percent surcharge: to discontinue it, to continue it temporarily or to make it a permanent addition. Their session ends June 30.

The armed robbery conviction of a Madison Man may be a first in Illinois.

A jury last week found Darrell Rivers, 32, guilty of robbing a 34-year-old East St. Louis Woman while armed with a car. The jury also found Rivers guilty of aggravated Battery.

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine credited Venice police officers with "Making the case against Rivers."

Testimony at the trial indicated Rivers offered the woman a ride home, but pushed her out of his car while holding onto her purse. The woman also held onto the purse, which became tangled around her arm, and was dragged for a half-mile at speeds exceeding 50 mph. She was left behind when the strap broke.

STILL COOKING and catching fish is Robie Brasfield of Madison, who will celebrate his fifth year with a new heart on May 24. On the following day he will host a fish fry for other heart transplant patients and friends. At left is his wife, Virginia.

Man is stabbed in shoulder Granite City

A man who was stabbed in the shoulder said he would take care of the problem himself when interviewed by police at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 4:35 p.m. May 10.

Shannon Biggs, 24, of the 2100 block of East 24th Street was at the SEMC emergency room for treatment of a stab wound to the left shoulder. Initially, Biggs declined to make a report, saying that he wasn't interested in prosecuting the person who wounded him.

Later, Biggs told police that he was walking in the parking lot of McDonald's Restaurant in the 2000 block of Madison Avenue when a man approached him and began yelling something about a pair of pants.

Biggs said the man was acting crazy and he didn't know what he was talking about. The suspect then pulled out a butterfly knife, stabbed him and ran off, he said.

Biggs said he walked to the emergency room to get treated.

Passenger injured

A passenger was injured in a two-car accident at 2 p.m. May 10 in the 3000 block of East 24th Street.

David D. Gonterman, 22, of the 2300 block of Katie Lynn Drive, said his 1981 Dodge was stopped in traffic in the northbound lanes of Nameeki Road and when the traffic light turned green a collision resulted with another northbound vehicle, operated by Howard K. Wigger, 70, of the 2000 block of Missouri Avenue.

Nancy A. Wigger, 44, of the Missouri Avenue address, a passenger in Howard Wigger's car, sustained an injury and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Arrested on warrant

Barry Chambers Williams, 43, of the 1400 block of Chouteau Place Road, was brought into Granite City police headquarters by an Illinois State Police sergeant May 10 on a St. Clair County warrant, alleging failure to appear on a charge of a maximum vehicle width. Williams posted $102 bail and was released.

had a heart for me. Dr. Denton Cooley and Dr. O.H. Frazier did the surgery," Brasfield said.

"Many transplant centers have been hesitant to accept patients over the age of 60 as candidates for cardiac transplantation," Dr. Frazier said. "However, our experience with this group of patients has been very successful."

"Mr. Brasfield was 61 at the time of his transplant and was only the ninth patient in this age group that we had transplanted. We now have experience with over 65 patients in this age group and the survival has been excellent, with a low complication rate."

Brasfield returned to the Texas Heart Institute in November 1987 for the program's 25th anniversary. Brasfield retired in 1983 from

NEW ADDITION: A new fire engine purchased by the city was paid off upon its delivery. From left are Jerry Wallace, fire chief; Michael J. Benker, Banner Fire Equipment Co.; Virgil Kambarian, chairman, Fire and Water Committee; and Judy Whitaker and Frank Scarsdale, members of the committee. The pumper will carry 750 gallons of water. It has a pre-primed deck gun described as self-sufficient, and will carry 1 1/2-inch hose to increase the water flow time. The department's other three pumpers carry 500 gallons of water each and one-inch hose. The last fire engine purchase occurred in 1980, when the city bought its "tele-squirt" truck.

DUIs

Two charges filed

Michael Ray Hoffman, 26, of the 1900 block of Johnson Road was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and improper lane usage at 10:50 p.m. May 10.

An officer on patrol reported seeing a car operated by Hoffman make a right turn from Madison Avenue onto 23rd Street, accelerate and weave the vehicle across the center line almost causing an accident, he said.

He was charged and later was released after posting $102 bail.

Driver booked

David Scott Gentilini of St. Charles, Mo., was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol when arrested at 10:05 p.m. May 10.

Gentilini allegedly was asleep at the wheel of his 1987 Mercury Cougar when discovered in a driveway at a residence in the 2500 block of East 27th Street.

Gentilini declined to take a breath test and was lodged after being charged.

Warrants

Area residents were named in warrants issued by Madison County State's Attorney William Haine during the week of May 6. Those named include:

•A Cahokia man was being held in the Madison County jail after being charged with one count of retail theft, second subsequent offense. Bail was set at $25,000 for Archie L. Pulley, 39, of the 300 block of St. James. In a May 4 incident, Pulley allegedly took three cartons of cigarettes from the Granite City Shop 'N Save store. According to the warrant, Pulley was convicted of retail theft in Madison County in January 1988.

•A Granite City man was being held in the Madison County jail in lieu of $50,000 bail after a May 9 incident in which he had allegedly stolen a Nokia cellular phone. Kevin Lee Mills, 22, of the 1300 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with one count of theft over $300. An Edwardsville man, Jeffrey Lee Stephens, 18, of Haines Drive, was also in custody in lieu of $15,000 bail on the same charge.

•Barbara M. Merchant, 42, of the 3500 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with one count of retail theft, second subsequent offense. In a May 4 incident, Merchant allegedly stole a bottle of Seagrams 7 from the Granite City Shop 'N Save store. According to the warrant, Merchant had a prior retail theft conviction in Monroe County in May 1987. Bail was set at $3,000.

•Fred Eugene Stuart, 28, of the 2200 block of Hodges, was charged with two counts of forgery. In separate incidents on April 18 and 19, Stuart attempted to cash checks totaling $345 that he had allegedly made out to himself from the account of a Granite City couple. Bail was set at $30,000.

Handgun waiting period no crime solution, Costello says

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Saying he understands law enforcement because of his personal involvement in it, U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, defended his opposition to a mandatory waiting period for purchase of handguns.

"The answer isn't a seven-day waiting period. The answer is take the criminals out of society. Let's not keep dancing around the issue," Costello said Monday night at the Law Enforcement Recognition Dinner in Granite City.

"Let's use the death penalty if a person takes the life of another."

The elected congressman noted that at one time he wore hair down over his shoulders and bought drugs — all in the line of duty.

Costello said he had wanted to be policeman since he was 8 years old.

"I really was a dispatcher, a bailiff and a detective," the congressman said, nodding toward Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchich, who was seated near the podium. Costello said he understands the problems faced by police officers and their families.

He recalled an incident that occurred while he was an investigator. Two drug informants on the street decided to come to his house with some information and tell his wife, he said.

Costello and his partner got the message and rushed to the home.

"I found her in the living room with a .45 caliber automatic she didn't know how to use and them (informants) banging on the door."

A sold-out crowd paid tribute to law enforcement officers from area police departments at the traditional dinner, held at St. Gregory's Hall. The event was sponsored by the Crime Prevention and Awareness Committee of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce.

Costello was greeted warmly when introduced by Jack Lee, Chamber of Commerce president and master of ceremonies.

The congressman discussed several issues, including his opposition to the Brady Bill, which mandates a uniform waiting period of seven days before a handgun purchase is allowed.

The bill is named for James S. Brady, former White House press secretary, who was seriously wounded 10 years ago in an assassination attempt on President Ronald Reagan.

The proposal to establish a uniform waiting period of seven days passed the House last week and now goes to the Senate.

"Half the people were for it and others were against it and I found that most people hadn't even read the bill," Costello said.

Little if anything has been said in the media about a provision in the legislation that exempts Illinois and Missouri and such major high-crime cities as Los Angeles, Chicago and Detroit from the gun control restrictions in the bill, Costello said.

A state or a city with any form of gun permit system already in place would not be affected by the new federal law, he said.

If Congress passes the legislation and guns are taken away from Americans, the only people possessing guns will be the criminals, he said.

He said he believe respect for law enforcement starts at home and then through the schools and with elected officials in the state and Washington passing the appropriate laws.

MADISON — Four aldermen were sworn into office by City Clerk William Weidner at the City Council meeting Tuesday night.

Congratulated by Mayor John Bellico and seated at the meeting were 2nd Ward Alderman Ralph W. Miller, a newcomer to the council replacing Ron Graywacz, who did not seek re-election in the April 2 election, and incumbent council members Andy Economy, 1st Ward; John Hamm III, 3rd Ward; and Norris Horton, 4th Ward.

A crowd of well-wishers filled the council chamber for the swearing in ceremony.

Miller was presented an inscribed nameplate by Bellico. "Ralph you not only represent the people of the Second Ward, but the people of the whole community and all citizens of Madison," the mayor said.

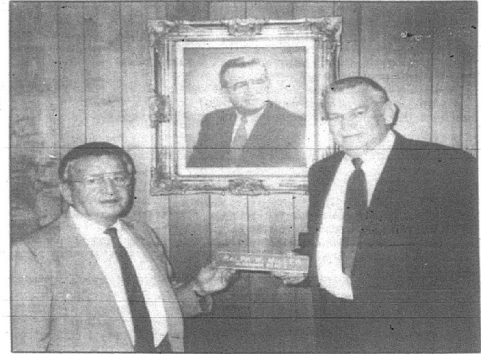

City appointments will be announced at the council's next session, Bellico said.

In other action, the aldermen agreed to participate in Buckle Up America Week activities to stress the use of seat safety belts sponsored by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

A mayoral proclamation establishing the week of May 20-27 for the observance was approved. The Buckle Up Week coincides with another effort targeted at law enforcement agencies — Operation Buckle Down.

The program is designed to increase safety belt use among law enforcement personnel, increase enforcement of safety belt and safety seat laws and enhance the current public information and education efforts relating to occupant protection.

Both programs provide an

Blood donations falling short

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — As the patriotic glow from the war died down, so did the willingness to donate blood, according to Ron Streiler, manager of the Tri-City chapter of the American Red Cross.

"We are really falling short of expectations at our local blood drives," Streiler said. "During the war, I guess, giving blood was the patriotic thing to do. Now that it's over, people seem to have forgotten that blood is still needed for hospitals."

Susan Whelan, communications manager for the Bi-State

Area Red Cross, said there is currently an ample blood supply for metropolitan St. Louis hospitals.

"But, since the war, donations this year have dropped 30 percent below expectations," Whelan said. "It's not a crisis right now, but the low level is definitely of concern."

During the Gulf War, Whelan said, several organizations were asked to cancel blood drives because of the excess blood supply caused by surprise donations.

"Now, we are trying to get those groups to reschedule," she said. "A lot of people seem to believe we still have a surplus of blood, but that's not the case."

Streiler said his chapter probably has enough blood drives scheduled, but because the local blood drives keep falling short, he is beginning to get worried.

"We are coming up on Memorial Day, traditionally the start of a time of high blood usage," Streiler said. "People travel more in the summer, so there are more traffic accidents. Also, more people take vacation for elective surgery."

"But Memorial Day also marks the beginning of the period when blood donation traditionally drops off. People are busy doing other things and don't have time."

Venice policemen face suit

EDWARDSVILLE — A Venice man has filed suit against three Venice police officers, the former chief of police, the city and its officials.

Joseph Watt, 32, is seeking in excess of $15,000 in damages from each defendant. Among Watt's allegations in the suit are unlawful arrest and malicious prosecution.

Watt claims that Venice policeman Neil Mize lacked probable cause when Mize arrested Watt on May 10, 1989.

The suit said Watt was in his car at his residence on Salvator Street in Venice when Mize shined a search light on the auto and ordered Watt to get out of the car. Watt says that when he protested and questioned the need for the light he was arrested.

A companion of Watt's, Monica Matthews, is also seeking in excess of $15,000 in damages from the defendants. The suit claims that Matthews was in Watt's car the night of the incident and that Mize drew and pointed his gun at her when he realized she was inside.

The suit, filed Friday, claims that Watt offered no physical resistance to Mize "except in self-defense of excessive force" used by Mize to arrest him.

The suit claims that Mize shoved, punched, kicked and drew and aimed his gun at Watt, and repeatedly struck Watt in the ribs with his flashlight.

The suit also names officers Oliver Mason and Rodney Davis

Hayes case saddens all

When a teen-ager is sentenced to 20 years for a crime, no one is more regretful than the family involved.

But others hurt, too. From the judge who renders the sentence to those who sadly sit and watch it. Here is another case of a wasted teen-age life that should not have been.

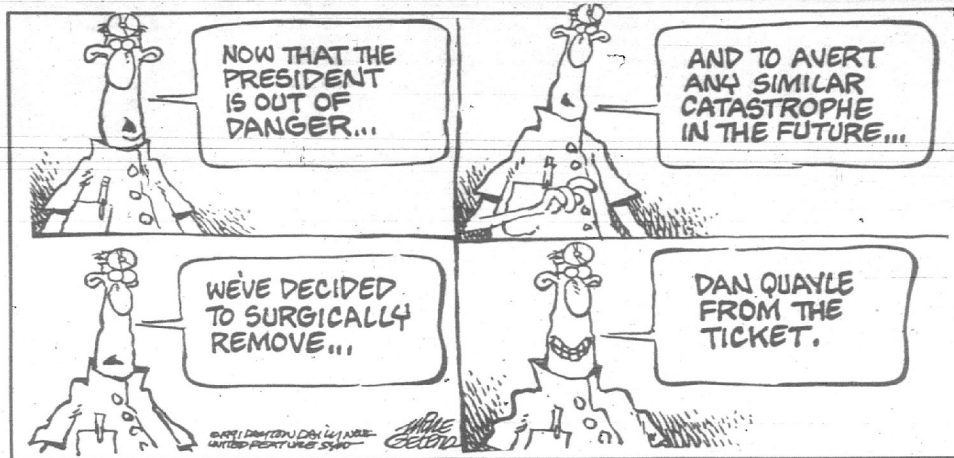

So it goes with Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner's 20-year sentence of 17-year-old Leon "Junior" Hayes of Granite City. Here was a teen-ager who did wrong, regretted it, but could not have the events to do over again.

Keshner found Hayes guilty of first-degree murder April 3 for the stabbing death of Dwight "David" Sumner of Alton. Hayes said the stabbing occurred after he tried breaking up a fight between Sumner and another man with whom they had been drinking alcohol in a teen hangout near the River Road bike trail north of Alton. The other man, however, testified Hayes was more deliberate in the stabbing.

The exact sequence of events will only be known to those who were there. What is clear is the amount of regret now evident. Two families are suffering unimaginably. One young man is dead. Another will be in jail for a long time to come.

We don't want to paint this case any differently than that presented by the prosecution and defense. Leon Hayes had his problems, but he was just a kid. Like so many other kids facing the same adolescent troubles on every block in America. The law classifies him as a man, but most people feel 17 is little more than a boy. The line between childhood and manhood is frequently so fine.

Teen-agers, young adults and their older counterparts would do well to consider this sad case in discussing with others the potential hazards in growing up.

Says there's fat to cut

To the editor:

As a citizen and businessman in our home town of Granite City, I am of the opinion it's high time to voice my objections on any more tax charges or fees placed upon the taxpayers of Granite City.

When 80 percent of our budget goes for wages and salaries, in this present day of our economy, I think each of you elected officials might think twice before you hammer the taxpayers again.

Yes, it's time you folks (elected officials) start trimming the fat. We've all cut back and tightened our belts this past seven or eight months due to the economy.

For starters, cut all appointed high-paying jobs that you created, implement steps and procedures to reduce the number of aldermen from 14 to seven. It can be done and should have been done a long time ago.

Yes, I'm speaking out, if not me, others (taxpayers in Granite City) will all be demanding what I am suggesting now for starters. It's time to start trimming the "fat" out and run city government like any good business should be run.

I urge all tax-paying citizens of our community to contact your alderman and if necessary, the mayor, to get our message across to our elected officials of Granite City.

JOHN KREKOVICH
Granite City

A sure way to pay for it

I have the answer to the city's financial problems. Of all the registered voters in Granite City, those who do not vote (except those with legitimate reasons) fine them $100.

Let's say there are 15,000 registered voters, 5,000 who vote and 10,000 who don't. That would be $1,000,000 for the city. What can the non-voters do to change that? Let them complain. They don't vote, so they can't hurt a politician (as the saying goes "Like water off a duck's back").

So they don't register to vote (so they don't have to pay). So what, the politicians still have their own people to cast votes for them, and they still rule.

Could this ever happen? Let's hope not, but we can't be sure. So I say to you, watch how our office holders vote on raising our taxes without trimming some of the fat that surrounds them.

When election time rolls around be sure and vote. Don't let select few rule you non-voters.

Congratulations on city's progress

To the editor:

The following is addressed to Mayor Von Dee Cruse and the City Council.

I pass through Granite City every day on my way to work. I am amazed at the progress made in this city.

It encourages a deep sense of pride to have a part in it, even if only in a small measure. The trees on East 23rd Street and Madison Avenue are beautiful and how nice to see new sidewalks.

Wilson Park is always neat and well maintained for the public's pleasure. The streets will be nice in the near future. How good to see new businesses springing up. The whole city is coming back.

Mayor Cruse, what you and the aldermen have done for your city is nothing short of wonderful. It gives me a good feeling just driving down your streets. Mayor Schoemehl turned St. Louis around with beautification and cleaning, and you are accomplishing the same for Granite City.

Congratulations to you and the good people with foresight to make Granite City a good place to work, live and raise a family. It's time for the citizens of Granite City to stand up and take notice.

MARY MARSALA

Allow graduation of exchange students

To the editor:

As I write this, I'm hoping the situation has already changed. However, at this writing I question the value and necessity of a formal education.

Along with the three R's the educators are supposedly teaching moral values.

If Vladimir Milosovic comes to our country, learns our culture and language, even excelling, he has earned the right to sit and walk side by side with his fellow students and classmates, and especially to graduate as they do. This is equal rights.

Take it to a vote of his classmates. Truly teach them acceptance and the values of our freedom.

What he has rightfully earned should rightfully be his.

Burris seeks assist with plan

To the editor:

I am writing to enlist your support for a very important legislative initiative in the General Assembly this spring. I am attempting to secure passage of a measure creating multi-county grand juries to investigate and prosecute narcotics cases and to facilitate the location and seizure of illegal drug-related assets.

As you may recall, the statewide grand jury concept was overwhelmingly ratified by the legislature a year ago, only to be struck down after the plan was amended by Gov. Thompson. The idea was an important one then, and it remains so today. A statewide grand jury will give law enforcement an unprecedented ability to attack drug dealers in a more effective way possible — through coordinated prosecution and profit forfeiture efforts. We cannot afford to let this opportunity pass us by again.

The legislative sponsors — Sen. Tom Homer and Sen. William Marovitz — and I are working closely with state's attorneys and law enforcement officials to make this idea a reality. We need your assistance, too. I would urge your editorial support of House Bill 316, and I would ask your readers to contact their lawmakers and make their feelings known on this subject as well.

ROLAND W. BURRIS
Attorney General

Reader getting less, paying more

To the editor:

I would like to comment on some of Mayor Von Dee Cruse's recent proposals for raising additional city revenues.

One of his proposals was the raising of the sales tax an additional ¼ percent. His reasoning is that Granite City has lost so much business to Fairview Heights that we have to make up for the loss with an increase in the sales tax. I can't help but feel that this thinking is faulty.

Granite City already has a sales tax above that in many other area communities. Part of the reason the citizens of Granite City shop in Fairview Heights and other communities is that they are forced to because there just is no place to purchase some items in Granite City. Clothing stores are not numerous in this community and if you need special items (such as clothes for tall men) you are forced to look at a place other than Granite City in order to purchase the same.

Thus, it seems to me that this proposal will penalize the Granite City merchants rather than help them as it will discourage people from buying locally because they must pay more for a given product. And it may even discourage new business from opening their doors here as well.

Also, there was a proposal that business license fees be increased. Again, for a small business if the fees are increased dramatically, these businesses may choose to open their doors in another community where the fee structure is not as high. And if fewer businesses open their doors, we may find there is another and another increase in our sales taxes to make up for the continuing decrease in sales.

Regarding an increase in city stickers to $10 or $15, again, this seems to be out of line. Many communities — Collinsville, for instance — no longer even have city stickers.

It appears that many of the mayor's proposals will hurt area businesses and the individuals who attempt to shop locally. It would seem to me that the solution is not to increase sales taxes and fees which will ultimately penalize local businesses and local consumers. We need to attract more business to the community so that there is a broader tax base.

I know that this is a problem that our community has and continues to struggle with. However, it is my thought that the empty store fronts downtown, for instance, could be rented out at a discount to individuals who were willing to open businesses there in order to attract more people to downtown.

Finally, regarding trash fees, I do not feel that Granite City offers its residents nearly what other communities do. Madison, for instance, had a contract negotiated with Laidlaw which included pickup of yard waste. Not so for Granite City. Each individual had to arrange for his or her own service. And Collinsville, Glen Carbon and Edwardsville, for instance, also have curbside recycling provided by the city.

In essence, it would appear that many of Mayor Cruse's proposals will continue to drive people from Granite City. For many of us — the elderly, the unemployed, the people with families, for instance — a contract negotiated with Laidlaw which included pickup of yard waste, for instance, would like to be able to put something aside for retirement — it is no longer worth it anymore. We find that we are getting less and less for our dollar in terms of city services even though we are being asked to pay more.

Moms ... then and now

Mother's Day was Sunday, but you couldn't have missed it. Mom would never let that happen.

Visiting with my own mother, I thought of a few things that she used to tell me and compared them to what my own children are told by their mother.

Times have changed. For instance my mom would say, "If you don't clean your plate, there will be no dessert." Twenty-five years later, my wife would tell the kids: "If you don't clean your plate, your father won't be able to finish the dishes."

Mothers have changed to meet the need. I would say that my mom and my wife would say all the following things (they'd just deny it), but surely someone's mom must have. Perhaps yours?

Yesterday's mom: "Look both ways before crossing that intersection."

Today's mom: "If you're going to fight, go out in the street and do it!"

Yesterday's mom: "Tuck your shirt in, you look like a mess!"

Today's mom: "Make sure you bend your knees so they don't show through the holes in your good jeans."

Yesterday's mom: "I hate to impose, but could you watch Billy while I run to the store?"

Today's mom: "I hate to impose, but could you watch the store while I get Billy from day care?"

Yesterday's mom: "I know you're busy, but you could call."

Today's mom: "I know you're busy, but you could fax."

Yesterday's mom: "With any luck we can take you kids out for ice cream Friday night."

Today's mom: "With any luck Dad won't see the Sears bill this month."

Yesterday's mom: "Come right home after the double feature."

Today's mom: "What's that movie rated anyway?"

Yesterday's mom: "Don't forget your lunch box on the way to school."

Today's mom: "Don't forget your food vouchers on the way to school."

Yesterday's mom: "Would somebody please pick up these G.I. Joe toys?"

Today's mom: "These Mutant Ninja Turtles are going in the trash if I have to pick them up."

Yesterday's mom: "I don't know, ask your father when he picks you up this weekend."

Yesterday's mom: "If we just had a television we'd be the talk of the block."

Today's mom: "If I could just figure out how to operate this darn VCR, I'd never miss 'Days of Our Lives.'"

Elderhostels: 'Old' become new

Senior citizens get chance to combine learning, travel

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

For Bill Wehrmeyer, 76, of Collinsville, visiting Elderhostels around the country has provided some of the more enjoyable and educational times of his life.

Since retiring six years ago from his job as an estimator for an industrial insulation company in St. Louis, he has visited three Elderhostels, once at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and twice at the University of Cincinnati.

"Everyone of them has been just spectacular," Wehrmeyer said.

Wehrmeyer went with his wife, Bernice, now deceased, to the Elderhostel at SIU-C to study nature photography.

In Cincinnati he studied such topics as the Jewish experience during the Spanish Inquisition, poetry and myths of Ireland, and musical trends throughout the ages.

"Each time has been an experience I will never forget," he said.

Elderhostels are education and travel programs for persons more than 60 years of age. Elderhostels are modeled after the youth hostel concept in Europe, said Naomi Fowler, Illinois state director of the Elderhostel program in Springfield.

Elderhostels are a chance for older adults to sample colleges, living and college courses, she said.

One week, visitors of the Elderhostel live in campus dormitories, participate in specially designed classes, take field trips and tour the local area.

Tuition for Elderhostels is generally about $250, Fowler said. Quarterly Elderhostel catalogs are available in public libraries throughout the country.

Because the guests are older people, hostel coordinators keep in mind their health needs, said Reba Klenke, coordinator of the continuing education program at SIUE.

Emergency medical technicians are on-call around the clock during the Elderhostel week and the SIUE campus is wheelchair accessible, she added.

Rest periods are provided between classes and activities are offered as well, Wehrmeyer said.

Nutritionists are careful when planning the menus to keep the sodium, sugar and fat levels to a minimum for visitors, she said.

"It is a wonderful opportunity for older adults to remain in the mainstream and to continue the lifelong learning process," Fowler said.

There are 28 Elderhostels in Illinois and 17 in Missouri with programs ranging from study of the Mississippi River Valley and Cahokia Mounds to nature photography and the life of Mark Twain.

On July 22, SIUE will be offering an Elderhostel with such classes as Big Bands of the 30s, They Chose America, Emigrants and Russia Under Gorbachev. In August the topics will be Steamboats and Show Boats, Cahokia, The Great Freshwater Metropolis and The Process and Production of Musical Theater.

"We try to offer the best that the area has to offer," Klenke said.

Klenke said she frequently speaks to community groups about the program.

"Elderhostel programs at the SIUE campus fill to their maximum level very quickly. Traditionally we have two Elderhostels each year," Klenke said.

May 19-25, the University of Missouri at St. Louis is offering "St. Louis: Gateway to the Arts" — an introduction to the arts in the St. Louis area.

The class will focus on art, architecture, music, theater, horticulture and photography with visits to St. Louis Opera Theater, Dance St. Louis, the Arch, Union Station and the Missouri Botanical Garden, said Naomi Fowler, Illinois state director of the Elderhostel program in St. Louis.

"We try to focus on a central theme," she said. "The St. Louis area is rich in culture and the historical sites are fascinating."

In the fall, UMSL will be offering "Meet Me in St. Louis," an overview of the 1904 World's Fair.

In October, Belleville Area College, in cooperation with Todd Hall in Columbia, Ill., will be offering its first Elderhostel, said Connie Jeffries, education coordinator at BAC's Programs and Services for Older Persons.

The fall Elderhostel will be offering "Meet Me in St. Louis," an overview of the 1904 World's Fair.

Jeffries said Elderhostel try to offer classes that are reflective of the surrounding area so that each host is unique.

The Naomi class of First Baptist Church of Granite City met recently at Ravanelli's for their monthly business meeting. Class president, Freda Jordan, called the meeting to order and Lena Scarborough brought the devotionals. Several get-well and birthday cards were sent and a donation was made towards the church's home missions goal. Vivian Mitchell gave the treasurer's report. Also attending were Leora Rogers, Carlie Hoffman and Ellen Douglas. Several members attended the W.M.U. birthday party at the Colanades Nursing Home following the meeting.

The Saints Alive group of the Madison County Baptist Association Choir visited The Second Baptist Church of Granite City Sunday evening. The group, which contains "Saints Alive." Those participating were Louise Accoke, Wilma Terrill, Myra Grote, Vera Kirkpatrick, Virgil Stogsdill, Earl Spalding, Olive Stagsdill, Bob Lewis, Arlene Smith, Vera Ridgeway, Balaska Daugherty and Amy Toney. Lori Castelman from the Third Baptist Church of the accompanist, Earl Spalding, gave a reading in honor of Mother's Day. Members of the church served delicious refreshments after the service and everyone had a delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold (Charlotte) McKinney have returned from Beloit, Mich., where they visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gregg (Janet) Knight and daughter Jaime. They attended a birthday party for their granddaughter, Jaime, celebrating her first birthday. Others attending the party were her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James (Mary Ellen) Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Kathy) Lane and daughter Kelsy. Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Cheryl) Johnson and Edna Long and daughter Lasell Thompson, Sandra Bushyhead and Rick Delaune.

The Phoenix Crisis Center of Madison County will host its annual barbecue on May 18th from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Bellemore Village parking lot. Steak dinner will be available at $4 and sandwiches at $2.50.

Mrs. Louise (Lou) Cable entertained with a surprise birthday luncheon for husband, Charles (Bud) Sunday afternoon, celebrating his 75th birthday. Friends attending were Mr. and Mrs. Hank (Dee) Metcalf, Vera Craft, Malinda Myers, Darla Maples, Mr. and Mrs. Gregg (Vicki) Nighohossian, Mr. and Mrs. Al (Ruth) Malotki and Tim Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Cora) Nance have returned from Grand, Mo., where they visited her mother, Mrs. Hilda Pace and mother. (See GREEN, Page 6A)

Ghostly gold mine and its hidden treasure still an unsolved mystery

The Tortilla Flat area, including the Lost Dutchman's Mine, was featured this month on television's Unsolved Mysteries. You may have seen the network program on May 1.

By coincidence, we toured the same site the previous week.

TORTILLA FLAT was one of the places we visited on our late-April western vacation, but it has nothing to do with the 1935 John Steinbeck book or the 1942 movie of that name.

Steinbeck borrowed the name for a fictional California area from the real Arizona site, where Apache Indians once were dominant.

With an official 1990 population of six, the tiny community on the historic Old Apache Trail is cited the biggest little town in Arizona and one of the last remnants of the Old West.

The trail is an ancient Indian raiding and trading route.

IN ITS heyday, Tortilla Flat had a population of 125. It boasted a school, a general store, a saloon/restaurant, a hotel and a post office.

At nearby Apache Junction, Ariz., one of the stores currently offers mining supplies, metal detectors and treasure-hunting and camping equipment.

The Tortilla Flat school has moved to Horse Mesa Dam and most of the settlers' homes collapsed long ago.

Still intact are the hotel, the store, the post office and the restaurant, featuring the world's spiciest chili.

I wouldn't be surprised if the chili recipe includes some Granite City area horseradish. When checking the menu, just ask for Killer Chili.

THE RESTAURANT WALLS contain photographs spanning the past 100 years, memorabilia, and thousands of dollar bills and foreign currency stuck to the walls with visitors' business cards.

Genuine saddles serve as bar stools, and the clientele includes cowboys, ranchers, tourists and, as you might guess, gold prospectors.

The bar is known as the Superstition Saloon and the area is in the rugged range named the Superstition Mountains.

Bill Winter

Ghost towns — and maybe ghosts too — are said to abound in the region.

OFFERING SPECTACULAR scenery, the settlement is situated in a valley along Tortilla Creek, surrounded by soaring mountains.

Not far from the community are some high-altitude lakes, some encircled by cliffs. One of the most beautiful bodies of water is Canyon Lake.

Beginning the Superstitions have spawned frightening legends, swallowing up nearly all the adventures and fortune hunters who dared probe their secrets.

THERE IS GOLD in the area, but whether it could be mined profitably today is a matter of disagreement.

In any event, the idea fascinates many people, and more than a few make the attempt each year. But it's a tough task, as explained by the Tortilla Flat Telegraph:

"Twenty million to 30 million years ago, cataclysmic earthquakes, massive upheavals and widespread volcanic activity pushed mountain masses thousands of feet high in central Arizona. Tremendous explosions spread ash and rocks 2,000 feet deep over hundreds of square miles."

"ONE SUCH EXPLOSION left a depression 20 miles wide. Magma (molten rock) welled up into the depression formed the Superstition Mountains."

Forbidding from the very beginning, the Superstitions have spawned frightening legends, swallowing up nearly all the adventures and fortune hunters who dared probe their secrets.

"The Apaches refused to go there and believed their fierce thunder god lived within these mountains."

"IN THE 1830s," Don Miguel Peralta, a rancher from Mexico, led several expeditions into the Superstitions to mine rich deposits of gold."

"One mid-century day, hostile Apache raiders ambushed Don Miguel and his entourage of 400 men and horses, slaughtering them on a mountain slope now known as the massacre ground."

"The Apaches scattered the gold or hid it in the mine from which it was taken. The red men had no use for the yellow metal, but they had come to realize that gold attracted white men and made them crazy."

"The Indians hid all traces of the gold mine and disguised its entrance so that no more white men would go there."

"TWENTY YEARS LATER, Jacob Waltz, a German immigrant or Dutchman, as they were known then, learned through his friendship with Don Miguel's cousin, Pedro Peralta, of three caches of gold near Weopos, a mountain. The mine is said to lie in the shadow of the needle formation."

"Dropping" out of sight, Waltz hid up in Pinalonix, six months later with enough gold nuggets to keep him in fine style for many years."

"From time to time, when his funds ran low, Waltz, the 'gold Dutchman,' would disappear into the Superstitions only to reappear weeks later with a new supply of gold nuggets."

"FRIENDS AND strangers tried to pry his secret from him. A few even tried to follow him to his mine but were never heard from again. The legend is that more than 60 people disappeared during the 20 years that Waltz made his Superstition treks."

"Every decade since has produced similar disappearances."

"It's impossible to know how many lives the Superstitions have claimed, but it is many."

"Perhaps someone or something still guards the secret to the Lost Dutchman Mine."

unison. The Prayer calendar was given by Frances Brake, followed by prayer for the missionaries. Plans were made to send $20 to the Baptist childrens home in Carmi. New mission actions were discussed. Mrs. Haynes led the Mission study, "Who will go for us?" on volunteers on the home mission field and "Pockets of Poverty," explaining how poverty grips individuals for various reasons: layoffs, accidents, illness, lack of skills and lack of vision. The ladies attending were Jean Horstmeier, Frances Brake and Louise Haynes. The closing prayer was for the many who live in poverty and strength and wisdom in dealing with them through the Holy Spirit.

Mitchell School PTA sponsors music program

On May 9, the Mitchell School Parent Teacher Association sponsored a student music program at the school.

The program, under the direction of June Branding, opened with a flag ceremony and the fifth-grade students performing the "Star Spangled Banner," "America," "America the Beautiful" and "Fifty Nifty United States."

The latter under the direction of student teacher Kim Myracle.

Next, fourth-grade students performed "Hey Dum Diddledee" with soloists Norma Jordan, Teresa Conway and Jori Keener, "Yankee Doodle" with soloists Tommy Haynes, Natalie Zimmerman, Mark Johnson and Douglas Tsui, and "It's a Small

The third-grade students performed "You're a Grand Old Flag," "Nature's Sweet Endless Song" and "We love the U.S.A."

The program closed with students from all three grades singing "Let There be Peace on Earth."

4-H'ers to train leader dogs

Illinois 4-H'ers this year have the opportunity to learn dog care and training while providing a unique and important service for the blind.

Leader Dogs for the Blind, an organization in Rochester, Mich., is working with the Illinois Cooperative Extension Service to place Golden Retrievers and German shepherd puppies in 4-H "foster homes" for one year.

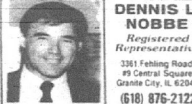

The 4-H'ers have the responsibility of raising, training and socializing the puppies, preparing them for the role as seeing eye dogs.

Youngsters interested in more information about the program should contact the local University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service youth adviser, Shirley Mills, 656-8400.

Luke 21:33 "... Heaven and earth shall pass away; but my words shall not pass away."

Regardless of who we are or what we possess, we all need to know that there are some things that are unchangeable. We need to know this because these things will serve as anchors to hold us in place and keep us from self-destructing.

The Bible states that Jesus has sought out many inventions and the end of them is the way of death. Our world moves at a fast pace, and we tend to lose sight of things eternal. However, we can have blessed assurance that God's Word is eternal. It will not pass away. Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever.

God's Word has outlasted the world's conquerors and has withstood the compromised versions. It will never pass away! God intends for His Word to be our foundation. Let's build our lives on it today.

Toddler falls from third story

GRANITE CITY—An 18-month-old West Granite boy suffering serious injuries when he fell from a third story apartment window Wednesday afternoon.

Brent Jones, of the 2300 block of Illinois Avenue, fell from a window 10 feet to a porch, and then fell from the porch 15 feet to the sidewalk below just before 5 p.m. yesterday, according to a Granite City Fire Department report.

The child was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, and then transported to St. Louis Children's Hospital by helicopter, according to SEMC Public Relations Director Deb Williams.

The fire department report says the boy was conscious and crying while being transported to SEMC, but that internal injuries were likely sustained in the fall.

The child's condition was not known at press time, as neither officials from Children's Hospital nor relatives of the boy could be reached.

Gospel singing at New Salem

An evening of gospel singing in support of Project Cleanup in Venice will be held Saturday, May 18.

Brother Dale Owens and the Fantastic Mighty Angels, along with Brother Robert Wooten and the Wooten Singers, will present "The Gospel Train" at 7:30 p.m. at the New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St.

Local musical guests will be the Southern Harmonizers, the Zion Travelers, the Echoes of Melody, the Spars of Harmony, the Spiritual Aires, the Masby Singers, the Royal Jubilees and the Gospel Aires.

Rev. John Henry Williams also announced that the deadline for sign-up for the cast of the Project Cleanup talent show has been extended until May 30. The show is designed to allow former drug addicts and alcoholics who can sing, perform, or play an instrument to share their message with the young people.

Jail and Bail slated Friday

The American Cancer Society's annual Jail and Bail fund-raiser will be held at Crossroads Shopping Center from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. For $25 pledged to the Cancer Society, anyone can have his or her boss, spouse, boyfriend, girlfriend, or anyone else "arrested" by calling 738-3005, the Quad Cities Unit of the ACS.

Charged with a bogus crime, those arrested must appear before a judge at a mock trial and then serve time in the shopping center jail while they raise the amount of their bail, set by the judge.

Transportation to and from the Jail and Bail site will be provided.

Farms

out there were two sites formerly occupied by farmers who probably raised crops for trade with occupants of a prehistoric urban site.

Because there are a large number of known prehistoric sites in the American Bottoms, Williams said she usually expects something to turn up any time she sees a survey is being done there.

Because this site was so close to the Mitchell Mound group, located just west of the canal, the probability of finding something was very high.

Williams stressed that the archaeological value of the farmsteads found at the Wal-Mart site is limited to the data obtained in their excavation.

"Once the data has been collected by digging and has been documented, the site itself no longer has any value to us," she said. "So it is free for a Wal-Mart to build anything else."

Many developers desirously refer to the federal requirement for an archaeological survey as the "Archaeological Relief Act of 1966." Williams found the name humorous, but said cultural resources of all types are often dismissed as unnecessary.

Loan

bank was still in operation.

The council approved the new ordinance during special meeting, which was necessitated by a statement from Wal-Mart officials that if an agreement were not consummated between the city and Wal-Mart by the end of the week, construction would not begin until 1992, Orbals said.

"And we don't want to enter any agreement (with Wal-Mart) without having the Community Development financing arranged," Orbals said.

"We've overcome a lot of hurdles on this project, and jumped through all the hoops," Second Ward Alderman Jim Miller said. "It would be unfortunate to let it slip through our fingers now."

The ten aldermen present at the meeting—Casper Skubish, Juanita Crawley, Miller, Virgil Kambarian, Andy Tomko, Dan Parney, Tom Gandler, Ginny O'Beary, Judy Whitaker and Sandy Crises—voted in favor of the ordinance authorizing the loan, paving the way for Cruse to sign the Wal-Mart agreement Tuesday night.

Orbals said the document was sent to Wal-Mart officials, who he hoped would finalize the agreement today.

Construction is expected to begin June 10, and the store should be open in time for the Christmas shopping season.

battery and possible other charges, Selph said. He added the incident is still under investigation.

The police report noted that Terry Tanksley has been admitted to the Alton Mental Health Center on several occasions. Selph said this is not the first time Tanksley has been arrested.

Really, this isn't going to be a work stoppage

"When I take the case to the developers, they said it might even fit right into their timetable. I think they were afraid (finding artifacts) was going to stop the whole thing, and that's just not the case. We aren't out to stop things from being built."

"We will recover the data by digging. The collected data will then be analyzed and a report on the site will be published and made available to the public. We will learn a little more about prehistory and the development goes as the work planned."

Sachs said the whole experience has been educational, but said the actions proposed by Williams seem reasonable to him.

"Really, all Wal-Mart wants is to make sure it's done right," he said. "I think Williams and Wal-Mart are all trying to do the same thing."

Sachs said Wednesday that he was unsure how the cost of the excavation will be paid or how much it will cost.

Wal-Mart, a retail chain based in Bentonville, Ark., plans to build a 91,400-square-foot discount retail store at the Granite City site. The company estimates the store will create 220 jobs for local residents.

new members "have never" (her emphasis) provided any support of any kind to the library

Robbie Wilson said her resignation could result in one of two possibilities for the future of the library:

"My political opponents will be in total control of the library. They will change the attitude of the village board regarding providing financial support for the library will change, and funds will be found to keep the library going."

"Or the library will be allowed to die so that the Granite City Library District may then annex the Village of Pontoon Beach into its library service area. This will mean an added tax for every property owner in the village," according to Wilson.

Trivia

So far this year, Pontoon Beach has collected $9,591 for 109 business licenses, according to Village Clerk Mary Warren. Wednesday was the deadline for obtaining a business license.

Impressions count at business center

By Dennis Grubbaugh
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Madison Avenue was a mess as work crews poured steaming asphalt along its rumpled surface. Traffic was lined up, motorists were aggravated. But a short distance away, in a nearby building, Larry and Terry Mangi were happy as could be.

The completion of Madison Avenue means good things to the two brothers, who just opened the newly built Business Equipment Center at 2930 Madison Avenue.

"(Driving down) Madison is the first impression people have of the city," said Terry Mangi, vice president of the family business.

If seeing the brothers' business is the second impression, Mangi hopes visitors are going to leave with fond thoughts of Granite City.

The 13,000-square-foot, brick-adorned building is the end result of many months of planning, construction and moving for the Mangi family. Carried with them from the former location in the 1900 block of State Street is 34 years worth of memories.

Larry Mangi, president of the business, said his father, Tony, began a storefront operation at 1916 State St. in 1957 under the name "Triangle Typewriter and Supplies."

The Mangis changed the name of the business in 1977 and the State Street site was remodeled from three storefronts to one in 1978. The family-owned entity was incorporated in 1976.

The elder Mangi is still active in the business, as is the secretary who first began with him — Joyce Tite.

Today, most operational responsibility falls to the brothers, Larry, 39, and Terry, 32.

The two-story State Street site,

is being maintained for warehouse space. One of the problems with the site is that there wasn't room to properly display the merchandise.

"People would come in and not even know we had a lot of things, because they couldn't see them," Larry Mangi said.

Business Equipment Center is unique in that it offers far more than office supplies. There are a wide range of desks, office furnishings, stationery, legal, medical and professional forms and drafting and art lines.

"We have a catalog with 25,000 different types of office products," Terry Mangi said.

Larry Mangi said the variety is more than a customer could find "anywhere south of Chicago."

Products also include fax services, calculators, rubber stamps and typewriters.

Service is the element stressed most, Terry said. "We can fill 90 percent of our orders within 24 hours. If we don't have it here, we can order it from Chicago (suppliers). We have a truck going back and forth every day. Service is the name of the game."

Added Larry: "Anybody can sell a stapler."

The firm's grand opening on May 23 and 24 will highlight a spacious floor arrangement of merchandise. But it will also give the native Granite Cityans a chance to show their pride in the new building. They praised the work of the contractor, Bud Gonnell of Granite City and BMS Construction Co. The business was built on four lots, and required purchase and demolition of two houses in the block.

Larry Mangi said the centralized location was chosen because "clients come from all over the Metro area."

The business is open 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9 to 3, Saturday.

Preschool enrollment begins

Enrollment for St. Peter School for the Young Years is being taking for 3- and 4-year-old children who wish to attend classes in the 1991-92 school year.

Classes will begin Tuesday after Labor Day and will continue through May. Tuition charges are nominal and further information may be secured by calling the school between 8:30 a.m. and noon Monday through Friday at 877-1904 or by visiting the school during these times.

The school will operate one session for 3-year-olds on Tuesday and Thursday and a session for 4-year-olds on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Both sessions will be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

The preschool program is held in the Educational building at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, licensed by the state and using revised curriculum by Linda Williams and Connie Gattung. Both teachers are certified and have degrees in Early Childhood Education.

Each class level is taught separate curriculum, complete with learning activities and art, music and motor skills. There also are field trips to local attractions, holiday parties, cooking experiences and walks to the public library.

Those interested should contact the school as soon as possible as enrollment is limited.

Vest named state ambassador

Rhonda Vest, daughter of Chester and Rita Vest of Granite City, won the honor of being named "state ambassador" at the Universal Charr State Pageant.

The contest was held April 25-27 in Elgin. She was at the pageant to relinquish her crown as 1990 Ms. Queen.

Along with her new title, Vest received a 6-foot trophy, an elaborate crown and banner, and several gifts.

Vest is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where she obtained a degree in elementary education. She is a substitute teacher in the Granite City School District.

She also owns the Glitter Girls Modeling and Dance Studio, where she serves as instructor, and owns and operates Kokomo Tans Inc.

Gathering big success

More than 175 former employees of Commonwealth enjoyed a coffee and doughnut gathering May 4 at Township Hall. The oldest one in attendance was Tom Condon, 94, who was a pattern maker.

Former employees from Oregon, Ohio, Texas and Missouri dropped in to see all the friends. Plans are in the making for 1992.

New Hope invites gospel singers

New Hope Baptist Church, at St. Thomas Road at Moffat Street, off Illinois 3 south of Interstate 270, will feature the Believers at a gospel singing session at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The Rev. David Walters is pastor of the church.

GC netters tie for 3rd in SWC

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

BELLEVILLE — Raffi Karibian and Dan Debert kept Belleville East from owning all of the Southwestern Conference Tennis Meet last weekend.

The Warrior duo won the No. 1 doubles title as Granite City tied Collinsville for third place overall with 31 points. But Karibian, a senior, and Debert, a sophomore, made it a successful weekend by knocking off East's Mike Benivegna and Scott Schultz 6-4, 7-5 in the finals. Benivegna and Schultz won the No. 1 and No. 2 singles titles, respectively. In fact, East won every other division except No. 3 doubles. The Lancers won the meet with 52 points and Belleville West was next with 42.

Karibian and Debert won Granite City's first conference doubles title since Allen Lobdell took over as coach five years ago. It was only the second conference loss for the Lancers and avenged a marathon loss for Karibian and Debert to the same tandem last month.

"Considering the fact that East has played such good competition, this is definitely a big win for us," said Lobdell. "It was encouraging to see their improvement. Danny was really solid through the whole match and Raffi was consistent as usual."

In the first meeting, Benivegna and Schultz already had five matches under their belts, while Karibian and Debert were playing only their second.

"Last time it was early in the season, they had played some tough matches and they play during the winter," said Karibian. "We were intense this time. We just went out and got it done."

"Experience was definitely a big part of it," said Debert. "This was our toughest match so far."

As well as winning the conference, the win gives Karibian and Debert some confidence entering this weekend's sectional at Belleville West. East will be playing in its own sectional.

In singles play, Karibian (No. 1), John Gilmore (No. 5) and Nathan McClain (No. 6) took thirds. Debert and Sunil Kumar were fourth at No. 2 and No. 4, respectively, and Scott Portell was fifth at No. 3. Portell and Gilmore took fifth at No. 2 doubles, while Kumar and Thornberry took fifth at No. 3.

Bake Edwards turns his own painful life into screen promise

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

Mention the name of director-producer-writer Blake Edwards to most regular moviegoers, and film comedies that target slapstick, gender reversal and even emotional pain will come to mind.

The 55-year-old filmmaker has been involved in 48 movies in a long, see-saw career that began in 1947 when Edwards wrote, produced and acted in a picture called "Panhandle." It was a small-budget western starring Rod Cameron.

The best remembered of Blake's comedies include films such as the very successful "Pink Panther" series that began in 1963, "10" with Dudley Moore and Bo Derek from 1979 and "Victor/Victoria" from 1981 that starred Edwards' wife, Julie Andrews, and Robert Preston.

Edwards also scored a coup with audiences in 1981 when he directed a film called "S.O.B.," a black comedy set behind the scenes in Hollywood about a film director who has just made an expensive "comedy," "Night Wind," that was a flop.

The studios in Hollywood felt Edwards had shown them in an unfattering light and quickly blacklisted him. Even some major reviewers got offended by the film when a bogus copy of the trade paper "Variety" was pictured early in the first reel with a headline that said, "Critics Break Wind."

"Viewing the painfulness of my life in a comedic way is what has helped me get through it," Edwards says. "When I put something up there on the screen, more often than not it closely follows something that has really happened to me or at least the picture is a comic metaphor for some of those things."

Edwards' latest film is another gender-confusion comedy called "Switch." It stars Ellen Barkin and is the story of a womanizing roue who gets murdered by a trio of his former girlfriends and then returns to earth as a woman himself.

"I've always been totally fascinated by the opposite sex. I'm very introspective about myself and I must say I've had a very interesting life with women. I'm interested in how men and women relate to one another, so I've tried to pursue that theme a lot in my work."

—Blake Edwards

"I've always been totally fascinated by the opposite sex," Edwards noted. "I'm very introspective about myself and I must say I've had a very interesting life with women. I'm interested in how men and women relate to one another, so I've tried to pursue that theme a lot in my work."

"Switch" isn't pretense, says star Ellen Barkin. "I'm not in a disguise. These are my breasts. I wear tight dresses. I am obviously a woman. Inside my head, however, is a male psyche, operating equipment for which he is unfamiliar."

Edwards' personal life has been infused with a confusion of another kind. The Tulsa-born Edwards confesses that he was raised by women most of his life and didn't meet his biological father, who left when Edwards was only 3 years old, until 1963.

Edwards' stepfather was Jack McEdward, a top assistant director and production manager in Hollywood who got his stepson his first jobs as a child actor. Edwards' mother is still active in motion-picture-related charity work.

As a member of the U.S. Coast Guard in World War II, Edwards spent five painful months in the say a word. The whole place erupted in laughter."

Currently afflicted by what he describes as a "chronic fatigue virus," Edwards has been under the constant care of noted analyst Dr. Milton Wexler for most of his adult life. Wexler and Edwards even wrote two screen plays together, "That's Life" and "The Man Who Loved Women."

Edwards still tries to make a least one motion picture a year, which is a stretch for a man his age. Popular Hollywood thought is that directing is a young man's business, and once you are over 60, most director's just don't have the energy required for the work.

Edwards says that might be the case and the reason why some of his latter-day efforts like "A Fine Mess" in 1986 and "Sunset" in 1988 were failures both critically and at the box office.

But Edwards says he is going to continue to "bury" himself in his work. He is trying to raise money to produce a film based on Saul Bellow's novel, "Henderson the Rain King." Edwards is also preparing the first six episodes of a new television series starring his wife called "Mille," which is being produced by the communication conglomerate Viacom and is scheduled for airing next fall on ABC-TV.

In addition to their grown children from previous marriages, Edwards and Andrews have raised two Vietnam war orphans who are now teenagers. Edwards and his wife are also involved in Operation America, an international relief agency dedicated to helping children.

Harry Hamm is entertainment editor for both KMOX-AM (1120) and the CBS Radio Network.

Actress makes 'Switch' convincing

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

Gender-swapping is not a new topic for filmmaker Blake Edwards, whose approach to the topic of sex is not always delicate.

In Edwards' newest effort, "Switch" (**), he has chosen the excellent but underrated actress Ellen Barkin to play the role of Amanda Blake, who once was a guy named Steve Brooks.

It seems Brooks was a lady's man extraordinaire who got sucked into a hot-tub party by three of his ex-conquests, only to find himself victimized in a plot to shoot him in the tub.

After the deadly deed, Brooks finds himself in Purgatory, where a deal is struck offering Brooks an opportunity to choose his own destiny in the hereafter. All he has to do is to return to Earth as a woman and find one female who likes him.

If he succeeds, Brooks goes to heaven. If not, he goes to hell. When Steve finds he has trouble convincing people who he really is and what really happens after he returns to Earth, Brooks, who assumes the role of Amanda, claiming to be Steve's half-sister. He changes clothes, dons a pair of stiletto high heels, and walks wobbly into the word as a woman for the very first time.

"Switch" also stars Jimmy Smits as Steve's best friend Ward. Tony Roberts plays Steve's old boss Arnold, a senior partner in a successful New York ad agency who has no second thoughts about replacing his absent employee's sister. Lorraine Bracco is Sheila Faxton, head of a cosmetics empire Robert's agency wants to land. JoBeth Williams plays Margo, a woman who believes in reincarnation and therefore is some what of a comfort to Steve/Amanda. Perry King plays Steve Brooks, and Bruce Martin Payne is playful as a Satan who is overjoyed by the entire celestial prank.

Barkin makes "Switch" work as a comedy because she has done her homework studying men, both their actions and attitudes, and translates her gender confusion into a wonderfully successful physical comedy performance. Even as her character evolves and develops some measure of confidence as a "new woman," Barkin remains thoroughly convincing, which is the key reason why this comedy produces real laughs. Rated R (language, sexual matter). Running time: 104 minutes.

Andy Wolf to qualify in doubles last season. Besides the Crusader tandem, there should be no problems for Karibian and Debert.

"Althoff will get the first seed now," said Lobdell. "I don't know who Marquette has, but you can never count them out. Other than that, we're not afraid of anyone."

Other teams in the sectional are Alton, Belleville West, Cahokia, East St. Louis, Lincoln, St. Louis, Southwestern Conference champion Belleville East has its own sectional.

"If we go into this with the same attitude we had against East we should do very well," said Debert.

The Warriors' entry in doubles will be Portell and Gilmore.

"They've played well at times, but they've been sporadic," said Lobdell. "If they have a good day together, they could surprise some people."

The singles bracket could be the most open. There is no dominant player as there was last year when Althoff's Steve Moehn breezed to the title. Althoff's Jason Stevens is a favorite along with Alton's Morgan McAdams and West's Mike Garcia. West and Althoff should battle it out for team honors.

Lobdell will enter Kumar and Nathan McClain in singles.

content with the smart money is on those teams to meet in the sectional final May 28.

"I couldn't tell much difference between those two teams," said Ames. "I didn't see the second game (a 1-0 Collinsville win May 6), but it's really too close to call."

One potential advantage for the Lady Warriors is they won't have to leave home to win the sectional. As the No. 1 seed, they will automatically host the first two games, and then the semifinals and finals will be hosted by Granite City for the first time.

Sophomore Stephanie Hardesty opened the scoring Wednesday by scoring her third goal in two games at the 8:40 mark on a great shot from the left wing. A pass from Amanda Witter Witter added her team-leading 11th goal seven minutes later after taking a deflected pass from Tia Rees at point-blank range and beating O'Fallon goalie Cassie Zelenski.

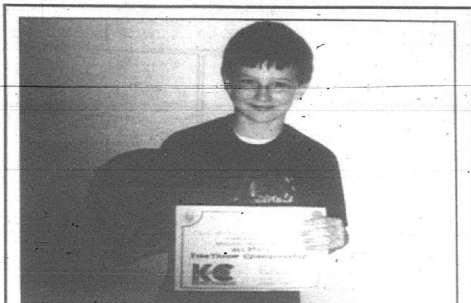

The rains came and play was stopped with 10:08 left in the game. The only adjustments made after that can be due only to injury.

ed nearly 40 minutes to make sure the lightning was gone. The lightning in the sky was gone, but the Lady Warriors had more offensive lightning to come. Angela Jones scored on a rebound of Addie Lenzi's shot at 34:53, then Susanne Stuart took Michelle Knox's pass at 36:30 and scored on a nice shot under the bar.

Junior Leslie Stavelly got the shutout, her second and the team's 12th. Stavelly had been out a month with a knee injury before returning to play in Monday's 7-1 win over Lutheran East.

Baker said six of his seven seniors will likely play in the post-season. Only Lia Mendoza has informed him that she will bypass the state tournament in favor of graduation. The CCHS commencement is May 31, the night the Lady Warriors could be in St. Charles for the state tournament.

Baker has to have his post-season roster set prior to Saturday's game. The only adjustments made after that can be due only to injury.

FAIREST FROM FOUL LINE: Steven Graham, a fifth grade student at Frohardt Elementary School in Granite City, won local, district and regional championships before playing fourth in the state in the Knights of Columbus Free Throw Tournament. Graham made 24 of 25 free throws at the regional competition to advance to the state finals in Springfield on April 6. He made 20 of 25 free throws there. The winner made 24 of 25.
